Meg practices in all areas of workplace law. Prior to joining Harris as an associate in 2022, Meg completed her articles at a full-service firm in downtown Vancouver. She has assisted on matters before the Civil Resolution Tribunal, the Workers Compensation Appeal Tribunal, the Human Rights Tribunal, and the BC Supreme Court.

Meg received her Juris Doctor from the University of Victoria, where she placed third nationally in the Canadian Client Consultation Competition. Throughout her law degree, she was an elected representative on the Curriculum Committee and advocated for a diverse, inclusive, and practical legal education.

Drawing from prior work experience in human resources, Meg's practice is characterized by her pragmatic and down-to-earth approach. She has an appreciation for the broader personal and professional implications of legal issues in the workplace and offers solutions tailored to her clients' unique needs.
